The Incredible Five Point Scale

The use of a simple 5-point scale can help students understand and control their emotional reactions to everyday events. By breaking down a given behaviour and, with the student’s active participation, teachers can develop a scale that identifies the problem and suggests alternative, positive behaviours at each level of the scale. At this session you will learn how to use this useful scale in a variety of ways to support students with disabilities (including ASD) in your classroom.

Speakers: Ann Maree Day and Kerry McFarlane

Ann Maree and Kerry are Consulting Teachers for The School of Educational Needs: Disability. The essence of the Consulting Teacher service is to provide practical support to the classroom teacher in relation to all aspects of teaching and learning adjustments for students with disabilities. Support is provided for students from K to 13 attending schools in the Western Australian Education Department.
